

Apostolos Matamis Oenologist - Ampelologist, Diplome de l' Universite de Bourgogne

“Wine represents in a definite way its producer’s character and idiosyncrasy.”

Apostolos Matamis’s process in the field of wine counts over thirty years. In this period of time he has developed experience over wine growing as well as oenologic and scientific fields.

Having completed his studies in the University of Agriculture in Thessaloniki, Greece in 1981, began his post graduate studies in Dijon’s University, France, where he received the D.N.O (National Diploma of Oenology) & D.E.R in viticulture.

Distinguished for his high level of knowledge, Mr Matamis, worked at “Domaine Louis Latour” in Aloxe Corton Bourgogne.

In 1987 Mr Matamis returned to Greece, where he worked as an oenologist for “Boutaris wine productions” at several vine producing areas of Greece.

In 1991 his unquiet spirit lead him at Siatista in Kozani where he created and bottled the first Red Local wine of Siatista as well as the first bottled fermented grape, wine.

Over the years, Mr. Matamis has been working as an oenology consultant for several famous wineries in Greece and abroad, while at the same time he has been offering his knowledge and advice for his sons’ company.

Since 1996 Mr. Matamis has been directing Spindal N.E Ltd which is a member of the “AEB GROUP” in the field of commerce of wine products.

His ultimate aim is to bring to surface the evolution of the Greek vineyard and its possibilities on new paths, always in collaboration with his sons Stelios and Giannis Matamis.

His moral, experience and oenology achievements have granted Mr. Matamis with the validity and the recognisability in the whole European wine production world.
